Summary
On 2/3/09 at approximately 8:15am while conducting an inventory for the lost and found file cabinet, Security observed a black leather wallet. While inspecting the wallet for identification the Security officer observed a small bag which contained a substance that looked like marijuana in a small green plastic bag in the money fold section of the wallet. The identification in the wallet belonged to a student. After this discovery, the Security officer then immediately notified the Director of Security to further investigate this situation. Report Addendum: On 2/4/09, the Director of Security, made contact with the owner of the recovered wallet. The wallet, when recovered, contained a small bag (size of a quarter) which contained a substance believed to be marijuana. The student was questioned regarding the bag and was honest and admitted that the bag did contain marijuana and it was for his personal use. He appeared sincere in his regrets for having the substance on his possession while on campus. He was advised that there will be no criminal charges but will be required to make contact with Student Services when notified. He stated he would comply. The Director of Security in the presence of the Crisis Communication Manager, flushed the contents down the toilet.

Summary
On February 12, 2009 at 7:01pm, Security was alerted by a staff member from housekeeping that a student was vomiting in the hallway. Upon arriving at the scene, Security immediately notified the Security supervisor of the situation. Security asked the individual who was responsive if she needed medical attention or relatives called and she declined. The housekeeping staff member proceeded in cleaning the area and putting up a caution sign. Another Security officer and the Evening Administrator arrived at the scene to assist with the situation. The individual was seated and given a minute to relax before any further questions were asked. Security notified the individual's instructor of the incident and brought her belongings out of the class to her. Before taking any statement, Security once again asked the individual if she wanted medical attention or someone to notify relatives and once again she declined. The individual complained of a stomachache and said it was from a Chinese dish that she ate earlier in the day. She stated that she drove to school and will be able to drive home alone. She then requested to use the restroom, and after she came out asked if there is a private room where she can rest before driving home. Security checked with the supervisor and Evening Administrator and was advised to tell the individual that there was a site in the second floor lobby of the HVPA. Security assisted the individual to the second floor where she sat down for over 10 minutes. Upon returning to location, Security found the individual sleeping, Security woke her up to check on her and she appeared to be well. The individual thanked the Security officer and advised that she was going to the ELB building for a few minutes and then she would be going home. The individual assured security that she was feeling better and that she would return to the Security office if she had an emergency.
